

Developing Community leaders requires partnerships

The Foundation for Rural and Regional Renewal (FRRR) recently announced the approval of a Victorian Regional Community Leadership Programs Scholarship Fund. The fund has been established to provide individuals, philanthropic foundations and corporations a mechanism in which tax deductible donations can be made.

Katrina Baddeley, Executive Officer of the VRCLP said “We are extremely pleased with the establishment of this fund and look forward to building a strong network of partners to provide this support for our local leaders. We invite Foundations, Trusts, Corporations, individuals and our Alumni to consider contributing through grants and/or donations aiding in the establishment of this Scholarship Fund which will support and foster the next generation of Australian leaders.”

Working in collaboration with the Victorian Regional Community Leadership Programs Secretariat the fund will be established to provide scholarships to all ten (10) Community Leadership Programs across rural and regional Victoria. These programs include:

Regional Community Leadership Programs take participants on a journey of discovery about issues affecting rural and regional Victoria. They are designed to develop and engage leaders from diverse backgrounds introducing them to key issues and decision makers in their region; state and nationally so they can develop leadership knowledge, capacities and skills to make a positive difference within their communities.

These programs are committed to developing the next generation of community leaders capable of engaging in strategic planning, advocacy roles and self-determination.
